I, Too, Sing America

I, too, sing America.

I am the darker brother.

They send me to eat in the kitchen

When company comes,

But I laugh,

And eat well,

And grow strong.

Tomorrow,

I'll be at the table

When company comes.

Nobody'll dare

Say to me,

"Eat in the kitchen,"

Then.

Besides,

They'll see how beautiful I am

And be ashamed –

I, too, am America.

– Langston Hughes

SUNDAY MESSAGES

This Sunday, February 8, 2026, Guest speaker Sabura Rashad, whose talk on "Building a BLUU Boat Home in a Beloved Community" had to be postponed from December 14 due to snow, is planning again to be with us to explore the Black experience within Unitarian Universalism.

Next Sunday, February 15, 2026, Join Les, Steph, and Michael Tacy for a music-centric service about the many faces of love in a talk titled

"Love Beyond Romance:

What Sustains Us After the Cards

Are Put Away."

Konscious Konscience

Welcome members and friends to 2026. Growth challenges each of us most days and sometimes comes with not a small dose of pain. In the coming year, many facets of a world built on the shifting sand in Jesus' parable will continue to crumble, increasing the chaos of life. GNH may be called to stand up for our principles in novel ways. One reframing of worrisome anticipation of challenging changes that we can try sees them precisely as an incubator for growth. We reflect on patterns that have ceased to serve us to gain insight, inciting creative action. If, as a community ever mindful of the belonging we cultivate in our being together, we answer the call of this tumultuous time by manifesting our principles in our response, we may discover that the concern, created by the unknown course that these changes will take, finds its match in how it shapes our becoming.

One fact helps in this reframing: when we stand up for our principles in the midst of the transformations happening, we also demonstrate--in a manner more sincere than any words we could offer--that GNH has the grit it takes to be a foundation for living well in a world that has forgotten itself. It can be a place where our brothers and sisters in our larger community can build on that foundation a spiritual home.

The growth in membership of GNH comes not just from our efforts to get out the word about us but also from the quiet prominence of our principles seen in action by those who heard that word and decided to take a look. The strength of what we already share here sustains the "walk" to our "talk". This well may be the unplanned gift we present, which may call future members to us. Believing in principles so deeply shared that we enact them innately, rather than merely proclaiming them, could be the calling card we didn't even know we were going to put out there.

If you feel a sense of waking up to things you knew you knew deep down but hadn't sincerely accepted, most likely this is a dubious awakening. You may feel anger and fear and confusion at revelations you wish you could unsee. Solace comes not from escape or denial but faith that our common purpose to live well together can prevail. So let us count on the growing pains of change coming with some palate-cleansing joy born of the fruits of our past labor in making this home together.

The Service Planning Team, already galvanized by the valuable feedback we received at the forum service on January 4th, wishes for each of us that the coming year will bring the surprise of little joys to match our anticipated challenges. We already see ways the feedback can shape the team's process; and we feel excited that our services can evolve to reflect things we learned from you. Please remember to engage in ongoing communication with us.

UUMUAC now has Podcasts

UUMUAC, the Unitarian Universalist Multiracial Unity Council, is now offering a growing library of podcasts that features sermons from our 40-plus monthly Vespers services, along with newly digitized recordings by founding member the late Finley Campbell. These short, accessible episodes make a welcoming experience for people who want to listen to them while driving, walking, crafting, or simply taking a quiet moment. Our Vespers services are already on YouTube and new podcast episodes are being added regularly to our feed on <https://rss.com/podcasts/uumuac-you-me-act>. These thoughtful and inspiring audio recordings are perfect for people who support liberal religion and multiracial unity, but don't have time for a full-length service. To help others discover this new resource, please share, rate, and comment. If you have additional feedback, or want to help with the conversion process, contact Bjeanwalsh@outlook.com. For more information about UUMUAC, visit our website UUMUAC.org.

February 15 is Hygiene Kits Day

It's time to assemble hygiene kits for Lighthouse Sheakley Center for Youth. After the service on February 15, we will once again assemble kits with a target of 250 kits. We look forward to help from another enthusiastic group of volunteers. We no longer receive any grant money, so we encourage member donations to support this valuable GNH outreach activity. If you are aware of a possible source of grant funds, please notify Pete Patterson.

WAN Donations to Our Charities

The GNH Women's Action Network (WAN) is pleased to report the following recent donations to our preferred charities. The donations include $100 each to the Lighthouse Sheakley Center for Youth, Valley Interfaith CRC, UpSpring (homeless children) and Sweet Cheeks Diaper Bank. We will continue with quarterly donations from our GNH Outreach Fund that is supported by member donations the Kroger Community Rewards program.
